Independence Day

For those who are involved in or closely watching the legislative process, we could be tempted to remember a quotation from a very old court case that said:

“No man’s life, liberty or property are safe while the legislature is in session.”
1 Tucker 248, N.Y. Surr.18

As tempting as it is to repeat this court case quotation, the week of Independence Day is a good time for all of us to remember how fortunate we are to live in a country where citizens of our State can govern our affairs through a General Assembly. While observers of the General Assembly might agree that it is not an efficient process, we should all agree that the form of government that we enjoy in the United States of America is undoubtedly the best form of government in the entire world.

So, we should all be thankful for our country’s ancestors who took historic action 242 years ago on July 4, 1776 which resulted in our form of government being the envy of people all around the world.

General Assembly Adjourns

As expected, the North Carolina General Assembly adjourned today. Historically, when the legislature adjourns during the odd-numbered year, they do not plan to return until early in the next year when the newly-elected General Assembly convenes after the November elections.

However, the adjournment resolution effective today schedules the General Assembly to reconvene on Tuesday, November 27, 2018. This will, of course, be after the November elections. This will allow the General Assembly to address additional legislation prior to the end of the 2017-2018 legislature and prior to the convening of the 2019-2020 legislature. During the session that convenes in November, there are no restrictions on the issues that may be addressed by the General Assembly.

Speculation is that if the election results are satisfactory to legislative leadership, little or no action will occur during the November session. However, if the election results are not satisfactory to legislative leadership, there is speculation that significant issues may be addressed during the November session. Only time will tell.

The Weekly Legislative Report is published each Friday when the General Assembly is in session. Therefore, it will not be published again until after the General Assembly reconvenes on November 27, 2018. When we complete preparation of our Final Legislative Report for this session, it will be distributed to the recipients of our Weekly Legislative Report and posted on the Association's website.

BILLS OF INTEREST

HOUSE BILL 744, Trespass/Eastern Band Cherokee Indians Lands, as amended, has been approved by the General Assembly and has been signed into law by Governor Roy Cooper with an effective date of December 1, 2018. This law includes in the crime of first degree trespass the unauthorized entry onto lands of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians.

SENATE BILL 808, Domestic Violence Fatality Review in Buncombe, has been enacted into law, effective June 28, 2018. As amended, it adds Buncombe County to the list of counties that must establish a Domestic Violence Review Team (Review Team). Currently, these review teams are required in Alamance, Pitt, Wake, and Mecklenburg Counties.

The law enforcement and criminal justice members of the Review Team will be: (1) the Sheriff of Buncombe County, or his/her designee; (2) a law enforcement officer appointed by the Chief of Police of the largest municipality in Buncombe County (i.e. Asheville); (3) a law enforcement officer from the other police departments in the county; (4) the district attorney or a designated assistant district attorney; (5) a magistrate; (6) a probation and parole officer; and (7) a district court judge.

The Review Team will report on domestic violence issues every 3 years to the Buncombe County Board of County Commissioners, the North Carolina Domestic Violence Commission, and the Governor's Crime Commission.

SENATE BILL 814, Judicial Vacancy Sunshine Amendment, has been approved by the General Assembly and will be submitted to the North Carolina voters in November 2018 to decide if the North Carolina Constitution should be amended to implement a nonpartisan merit-based system for the filling of vacancies in the offices of the Supreme Court, the Court of Appeals, Superior Court Judge, District Court Judge, and District Attorney. If approved by a majority of votes, this amendment would apply to vacancies occurring in the above referenced offices on or after the date of the next general election. Since the bill proposes a constitutional amendment, it does not go to Governor Roy Cooper for approval.

If approved, this constitutional amendment would establish the Nonpartisan Judicial Merit Commission (Commission) that would consist of a maximum of nine members who would be appointed by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, the Governor and the General Assembly. Vacancies in the above referenced offices would be filled by receiving nominations from citizens to the Commission. The Commission would evaluate the nominees without regard to the nominee's political affiliation and the Commission would in turn submit their evaluations of the nominees to the General Assembly. The General Assembly, in turn, would recommend to the Governor at least two of the nominees to fill each vacancy. The Governor would then appoint the nominee the Governor deems best qualified. Currently, vacancies in these offices are filled by the Governor without a formal citizen nomination and review process.
